Fort Street Studio

Wasser is one of the newest designs from Fort Street Studio's creative directors Janis Provisor and Brad Davis. The studio's designs are often derived from watercolour paintings, but Provisor says that lately she's been beginning with a pen, resulting in something 'seemingly similar but actually a very different genesis'. The Wasser rug is made in Agra, India from hand-knotted wool and silk, and makes use of an interesting technique in which some of the wool pile is singed and burnt off while the silk remains unaffected, creating a unique and vivid texture.
