► Joint cause

Corner Halving is one of the stars of industrial design studio Mr Fräg's new collaboration with Australia's Designer Rugs. With motifs derived from timber-joining techniques, the narrative of the collection focuses on practical construction as well as symbolic expressions of craftsmanship and quality.

▲ Balinese colours

Inspired by the Balinese traditional use of strong secondary colours that fade with time during a trip to the Indonesian island, Fort Street Studio created Hexi. The original colour scheme is enriched by the subtle shimmer resulting from the mixing of high-altitude wool and silk.

◀ Four-minute rug

Can one design a beautiful rug in just four minutes? Reuber Henning has proved that this is indeed the case with the 4-Minute Rug Collection, the latest addition to which is Ribbon, here shown in Aquamarine. As is to be expected, the drawing of the pattern has an intuitive and liberated feel.

◀ Painterly piece

Translated from a delicate watercolour painting by interior designer Rebecca James, the Delphine rug is a stunning new release from London brand Topfloor. The way the colours are seen to flow into each other is testament to the skill of Topfloor's weavers.
