

LUXURY

LUXURY MAGAZINE

WINTER 2015

ART UNDERFOOT

We're just plain floored by the beauty and variety of contemporary rug designs. Whether hooked, cut-and-loop, flatweave, or embroidered, there is no end to the soft options to cushion each footfall.

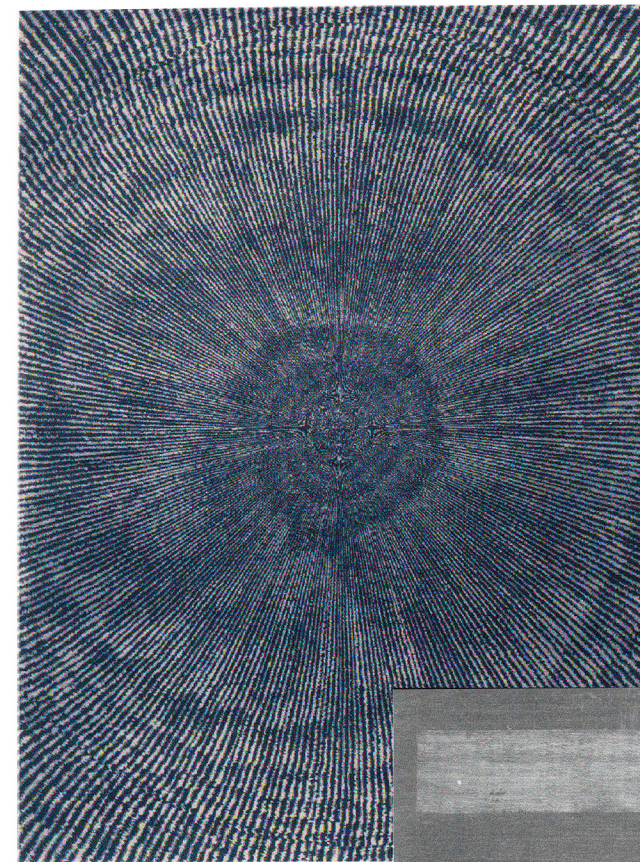

All prices per square foot unless noted otherwise.

Adam Hunter's new Zebois design for The Rug Co. brings faux bois to the floorboards in hand-knotted Tibetan wool and silk. Go on, be a tree hugger. The Rug Co., $209, therugcompany.com.

The Digital Monet collection brings the great Impressionist's genius into a new medium with equally dreamy results. Martin Patrick Evan, $90, nartinpatrickevan.com.

Photos: (Ligne Roset) Sylvain Willenz; (Fort Street) John Taylor; (Lindstrom) Richard Horn; (Warp & Weft) Hossein Montazeri.

Cross Section beautifully translates one of nature's most mesmerizing circular patterns using sumptuous hand-knotted wild silk. Fort Street Studio, $264, fortstreetstudio.com.

Faceted structures inspired Karim Rashid's Collection, for which he fractures colorful images into triangulated patterns, including this Jut o Rugs, from $82, lin

Serpiente is one of longtime Mansour designer Kerry Joyce's latest designs. By squaring off the slithery movement of a sidewinder, Joyce creates a graphic statement for any room. Mansour Modern, $125, mansourmodern.com.

